MESSAGE

I am pleased to learn that the Chanakya Aerospace Defence & Maritime Review will complete 45 years in defence publishing in 2014.

This monthly publication offers its readers a broad perspective of events related to our Armed Forces. Besides informing them about important events related to the Army, Navy and the Air Force, it also covers contemporary issues related to technology, aerospace, procurement of hardware and other relevant issues.

I am confident that Chanakya Aerospace Defence & Maritime Review will continue to provide valuable insights into the above issues in the coming years and be of interest to stakeholders at different levels of our national security apparatus as well as people from other walks of life with an interest in matters military.

I wish the publication the very best in all its endeavours.

Jai Hind.
